ABOUT THE BOATHOUSE YOUTH

The Boathouse Youth currently works with children and young people aged 5 to 17, from socio-economically deprived communities across Blackpool, to help tackle the challenges they're experiencing.

Youth participation is at our heart.

We are a learning organisation whose evolution is only possible when our vision for youth participation is manifested through the progression of young people into key stakeholders.

Our commitment to relational longevity means that our partnership with young people, which exists throughout their whole childhood, creates a space in their lives where views can be expressed freely and received by audiences who not just have a responsibility to listen but are actively interested in doing so as a result of their own lived experiences.

We currently operate in two of the borough's "most deprived" communities: Bloomfield and Grange Park. In 2022, we worked with 1,138 individual children and young people attaining 32,000 attendances.

The Boathouse Youth is a product of its local communities' requirements. Our priority is to embrace those whose need is greatest, and location is paramount. We have chosen the Bloomfield ward and Grange Park council estate due to their unrivalled levels of deprivation within our town. More than 50% of the children residing in these areas are "living below the breadline". A complex variety of issues, associated with deprivation, contribute towards instability.

We have four programme areas each facilitating a variety of physical, creative and educational activities including centre based youth work, offsite visits and residential experiences.

We also have a specialist programme for children with additional needs and disabilities. Our entire offer is fully funded and therefore free at the point of access.

Our team of highly skilled professionals interact with young people on a daily-basis to deliver well thought out programmes in an engaging way.

We aim to facilitate a safe space to improve mental well-being, promote positive behaviours, support educational growth and encourage a healthy lifestyle.

This helps young people become the best versions of themselves through increasing their aspirations and improving their relationships. Our ultimate aim is to break the cycle of deprivation and enable our young people to lead their best lives.
